German Center And Left Armies Retiring Indications Kaiser's Armies Suffering Severe Losses Each Day PRIMARY CAMPAIGN COMES TO CLOSE; RIVAL CLAIMS MADE; RICE RUNS STRONG

Campaign Managers, After Studying Early Figures and Hearing from Outside Islands, Predict His Election by Good Margin—John Wise Says "I've got the Rice People Beaten;" Indications Are Size of McCandless Vote, Especially in Fifth District, Will Be Unexpected—Final Meetings, Speeches and Verbal Fireworks Tonight

We predict that Rice will carry Kauai by a big vote, Oahu by a safe plurality, Maui by a majority vote and East Hawaii by a good margin. West Hawaii will give Rice a percentage that will surprise people.

McCandless will poll a larger vote on Maui than Kuhio. The developed strength of the last few days shows distinctly that Chas. Rice will be the successful candidate on the Republican ticket tomorrow. In the fifth district on this island, because of the great division of strength between the four candidates, each of whom has strong support in some localities, Rice gains a distinct advantage outside of his own staunch following.

F. T. P. WATERHOUSE,
Chairman Rice Campaign Committee.

Three meetings tonight close the primary campaign on Oahu and interest throughout the islands centers here, with all of the candidates for delegate ending their campaign on this island.

The Rice meeting at the Bijou, which will be a general Republican rally, the Kuhio meeting at Athletic Park, at which it was said today, several Republican candidates besides the prince would talk, and the Democratic rally at Ala Park will bring to a close the first half of the 1914 race.

A number of meetings were held at noon today in various parts of the city, candidates speaking to gatherings of voters. Tonight all the meetings will begin about 7:30 o'clock.

The Rice campaign committee was genuinely confident today that if the Republican and independent voters who are in favor of Rice do their duty and go to the polls tomorrow, Rice will be nominated by an emphatic majority. An air of confidence was plain at Rice headquarters today. Wireless messages and letters have been coming in for several days from Maui, Hawaii and Kauai showing the strength of the Rice vote in the outside districts.

Wise says "I'll show 'em." John Wise, manager of the Kuhio campaign, said this morning: "I've got the Rice people beaten."

SECRETARY THAYER WILL NOT ALLOW THE POLLING BOOTHS TO BE BLOCKED

While Territorial Secretary Thayer stated, in a talk to the election inspectors of Oahu at noon today, that he did not anticipate any such trouble at the same time he gave them careful instruction as to how they shall proceed if any concerted attempt develops in any precinct to check or block the primary election by voters remaining in their compartments an unusually long time.

"The law does not place any limitation on the length of time a voter may remain in his compartment, marking his ballot," said the secretary, "and that is left to the discretion of the inspectors, who must act in a semi-judicial capacity. You must decide for yourselves whether a man is remaining longer than he reasonably should. If you decide he is staying too long, it amounts to blocking the other voters. You should notify my office by

MASSMEETING AT BIJOU TONIGHT IS THE CLIMAX

Charles A. Rice's campaign for the Republican nomination as delegate will be brought to a climax tonight with the last big mass meeting of the primary campaign in the Bijou theater.

It will be a rapid-fire, hot-stuff, variegated mass meeting tonight, for as soon as three Rice speakers have closed, at the invitation of Rice and his campaign committee the crowd will be addressed by any and all Republican candidates who appear and have time to talk.

Jack Lucas, candidate for senator, and a number of others had at noon today said they would appear and speak and it is expected that most of the Republican municipal and legislative candidates and their friends will be there. The meeting will begin with moving pictures at 7:30 o'clock and the speaking about 8. The meeting is being held through the courtesy of the Consolidated Amusement Company.

The Rice speakers tonight will be E. C. Peters, A. D. Castro, C. H. Olson and Candidate Rice himself, and their addresses will all be short and to the point.

COMMISSIONER OF EXPOSITION TAKEN AS SPY

L. C. Anderson of San Francisco Can Laugh About Sydney Incident Now

Arrested as a German spy in Sydney, forced to march at the point of a particularly sharp British bayonet for a mile and half, scrutinized by British officers who looked as if they might condemn him to be taken out and stood up before a firing-squad, L. C. Anderson of San Francisco can testify to the fact that when British soldiers prepare for war they do it with discipline and thoroughness.

Mr. Anderson is a commissioner of the Panama-Pacific Exposition to Australia and as such was highly successful in his mission to the colonies. He is now returning to California as a passenger in the Oceanic liner Ventura. When he gets back to San Francisco he will have some tales to tell to his friends of how an American citizen feels when he is taken for a spy.

"It was while I was trying to take a photograph at South Head, Sydney, that I was arrested," said Anderson today in telling friends of the incident. "This place has been under strict military supervision heretofore, but with the outbreak of the war the colonies are guarding every point, particularly along the coasts. I was just getting a photo of some fine rocks when a soldier tapped me on the back—it's a wonder they hadn't shot me

Honolulu, Sept. 11, 1914.
Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin:
Sir—In view of the fact that it is reported certain sample ballots containing a slate purporting to be issued by the Charles A. Rice Campaign Committee are being circulated, I desire to emphatically deny that this committee has endorsed any such slate, other than for Charles A. Rice alone, as candidate for the nomination as Delegate to Congress, and that any such slate or sample ballot issued is entirely unauthorized by the committee. This committee has not and will not issue any slate.
Yours truly,
FRED T. P. WATERHOUSE,
Chairman.

GERMAN SAMOA SURRENDERS; NO BLOOD WAS SHED IN THE VENTURA

New Zealand Troops Backed by Small Fleet Capture South Sea Garrison

Not a gun was fired with the invasion of 1500 New Zealand troops who landed on the island of Upolu, German Samoa, on August 29, under the bristling array of armament on the Australian dreadnought-cruiser Australia, the British second class cruisers Camperdown and Champion and two torpedo boats, the party immediately taking over the island and the seat of government at Apia.

The departure of the troops from New Zealand ports in the British liners Tahiti and Willochre which formerly operated in a service between San Francisco and Sydney by the way of Papeete was unannounced, the squadron flying the Union Jack quietly steaming into the landlocked harbor at Apia under the cover of darkness and a large landing party effecting a complete surprise upon the little delegation of German government officials.

Governor Herman Schultz and his staff were briefly informed that they might consider themselves prisoners of war.

A peaceful surrender followed, the Germans maintaining a guard of less than 100 men in the possessions. German Operator Balks Seizure.

Refusing an offer of $10,000 in gold to disclose the hiding place of much of the receiving and sending apparatus belonging to the powerful radio station near Apia, Frederick Heintz, operator with the German company, stood firm in withholding the information. When the British officers decided upon the removal of Governor Schultz to Fiji Operator Heintz was also included in the small party of Germans who were conveyed to the British base as prisoners of war.
